

Mench Financial, Inc. Markets Outlook 2Q 2023

We believe the current market conditions are primed for new growth opportunities, and we're projecting that equities will produce normalized total returns. Therefore, we'll be prioritizing domestic and developed-market international stocks over short-term fixed income securities.

The composite US Treasury curve yield has risen to 3.9%, with a coupon yield, leading us to believe that fixed income total returns will be positive. We will be favoring intermediate-term investment grade bonds.
